Defense Plans May Dominate Kennedy Talk

Numerous Reports Differ On JFK's Address Intentions

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy winged back to Washington today to call in key advisers and begin straightening the last kinks out of a major address on measures to meet the Soviet threat to Berlin and global peace.

The President arranged to depart by jet at 9:15 a.m. EDT on an hours flight to the capital. He had spent the weekend at his Cape Cod home.

The grave decisions already have been made on how to back up notice to Moscow that Berlin will be defended at any cost. These were hammered out last Wednesday in the meeting of the National Security Council.

Now they will be disclosed to the nation in a radio-TV address from the White House Tuesday night and in a followup message to Congress Wednesday.

All sorts of reports are out about what Kennedy intends to do. For a time the possibility of a declaration of a state of national emergency claimed attention. Talk of this has dwindled lately.

There have been reports that Kennedy was considering adding two or three billion dollars to his $43-billion defense budget.

Word has spread that he was considering such steps as calling out reserves and National Guardsmen, increasing their training or service, expanding the draft and Army manpower and buying more arms for conventional forces, pulling some ships from the "mothball fleet," calling for a special tax increase and trying to persuade the allies to take parallel steps.

The White House has fended off all efforts to clarify details.

To clear the way for putting them into specific thoughts and phrases, Kennedy kept the entire day free of formal appointments. As assistant press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher phrased it, "There are no announced appointments for President Kennedy on Monday."

This left the field open for plenty of unannounced ones. Hatcher said the chief executive was going to confer with members of the White House staff and administration who could contribute something to drafting Tuesday's speech.

Kennedy got in some preliminary work on the speech, along with some fun and relaxation, on a Friday evening to Monday morning weekend at his summer home at Hyannis Port. He had Washington aides on the telephone at times, and farmed out to them the drafting of some of the more technical portions of the address.

Both Saturday and Sunday the President, Mrs. Kennedy, and their daughter Caroline cruised Nantucket Sound on the family's 52-foot cabin boat, the Marlin.

BULL RUN NUMBER TWO — "Confederate" artillery fires a salvo in Manassas, Va., during reenactment of the Civil War battle of Bull Run.

'Bull Run' Show Makes Profit

Use Extra Funds For War Hall-of-Fame

MANASSAS BATTLEFIELD, Va. (AP)—A big dream of Civil War buffs may be a bit nearer realization today because of the grand commemorative staging of the first battle of Manassas or Bull Run.

Maj. Gen. William C. Fry (ret), hard-working manager of the spectacle staged in searing heat that reached 102 degrees, said he hoped not only to clear expenses of about $175,000 but to have some left over to put in the kitty for a Civil War Hall of Fame at Manassas.

A $5-million drive is under way to establish the Hall of Fame. No dead museum of the old-fashioned type, it would include such features as revolving chairs from which visitors could watch battles unfold on devices mounted on the walls. It would stress, not old enemies, but present amity.

Capt. Eugene H. Breitenberg, U.S.A., who read the prologue before each enactment, told reporters: "This is a commemoration of the American heritage, a reminder of a spirit that must be ever renewed. The men of the Civil War had deeply rooted beliefs and were willing to fight for them."

The rehearsal on Friday developed some bugs, as rehearsals always do, but the show got progressively better Saturday and Sunday. The blues and grays — many of them teen-agers — stood up to the heat in their old-time woolen uniforms to fight the surging mock battle back and forth across the Manassas hills.

The action showed the highlights of the first major Civil War battle, when a green Union army under Gen. Irvin McDowell came down from Washington to smash the Confederates and press on to Richmond, only to be routed by the untested troops of Gen. Joe E. Johnston and P. T. G. Beauregard.

The casualties among the troops were remarkably light this weekend, though many were too hot and exhausted at day's end to eat the supper brought to their encampments in trucks. One fighter was seared by the blank blast of a cannon and there were some accidental lacerations from sabers.

Casualties among the spectators were heavier. There were more than 175, mostly heat exhaustion cases.

Glenn Selected For Next Sub-orbital Ride

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn will make the next short sub-orbital U.S. space shot, if there is one.

This was disclosed Sunday by James E. Webb, chief of the national Aeronautics and Space Administration, in a radio-TV interview (ABC-Issues and Answers).

Webb said there has been no decision on whether this nation will try a third sub-orbital shot before its first round-the-world space flight, scheduled either late this year or early in 1962.

He said all seven U.S. astronauts are in the running for the first orbital flight.

Six Perish In New England Tenement Fire

LOWELL, Mass. (AP) — A mother and five of her 10 children perished early today when fire broke out in a tenement building and destroyed the flimsy structure within minutes.

A sixth child in the Negro family was still missing hours later and was believed dead.

The mother, Mattie Maryland, about 50, died when she raced back into the burning, three-story building and fell two floors into the rubble as a stairway collapsed.

Two older Maryland children were hospitalized with burns but were not considered in dangerous condition. The other two children in the family escaped unhurt.

The father, John J. Maryland, was cut by glass but was released from a hospital after treatment.

Fire officials said the general alarm blaze started on the third floor and in "a matter of minutes" it was too late to save the victims. The dead all were trapped in a third-floor apartment.

The first five children's bodies recovered were Gee, 4; Ivy, 3; Linda, 2; Pamela, 1, and either Willie James, 9; or Bobby Ray, 8; John M. Jr., 14; and Dale Lee, 11; were hospitalized. Mattie Ruth, 13; and Christine, 10; escaped injury.

Mrs. Maryland had moved into the apartment only recently with her husband and family.

A policeman had tried to reach her and bring her outside again but the stairway gave way.

Four other persons also were injured. A neighbor and two firemen were hospitalized with minor injuries.

Police said about 30 persons were in the building when the fire started.

Stepfather Held For Shooting Boy

EAST LIVERPOOL — An 18-year-old Drain St. boy is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with a shotgun wound of the left forearm and his 36-year-old stepfather, accused of wounding the youth as the climax of a family quarrel Saturday night, is in city jail, charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Police said Wayne Butler was shot from a range of 30 feet by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun held by his stepfather, Morgan Westley Fulmer, about 6:40 Saturday night as the culmination of a general family argument that started in the house and moved out into the yard, where the boy was wounded.

Police said about 20 pellets from the shotgun struck the boy in the forearm, breaking the bone.

Neighbors took the boy to the hospital and summoned police. Fulmer surrendered at his home moments after the shooting and turned over the shotgun, which he had hidden in the cellar, police said.

was the only other band in competition, winning both the field contest Saturday and the parade competition Sunday.

The Salem aggregation had held the state title from 1953 to 1958, but did not compete during 1959 and 1960.

The group is now eligible to represent the Department of Ohio at the national convention in Denver, Colo., in September but at present the band does not plan to attend because of the high cost of transportation which would be approximately $10,000, according to Band Director Tom Williams.

During the convention, the Salem band participated in the convention parade on Sunday and the "parade of champions" Saturday night, at which time they were presented the championship flag to keep until next year. This flag may be carried in all band activities.

The 59 bandsmen made the trip by bus and private automobiles. The Salem band held the national Legion championship in 1957.

Election of officers at the Legion convention resulted in the naming of Chester F. Stellar, 37, of Creston, a World War II aviator, as new state commander.

His election came in the last business session Sunday of the group's 43rd annual convention.

In the only election contest, Donald Gruenbaum, 36, of Marysville defeated Charles Phillips of Sylva and Charles Knott of Cambridge for second vice commander.

Gruenbaum succeeds Stuart Luginbuhl, 46, of Cincinnati, who moves up to first vice commander. Foster P. Dirlam, 64, Elyria, is the new treasurer, and the Rev. Barnabas McAlarney of Cincinnati becomes chaplain.

The Marion Cavaliers won top honors in parade contests, while Shirley Sandusky, marching under the banner of Middletown Post 218, was rated top majorette.

Hiskey Post 535, Bellville, and Willkie Post 19, Akron, won membership awards as did the district headed the past year by Paul Lewis of Athens.

Police, Firemen Meet With Council Tuesday

Police and firemen are hoping to get an answer to their petition for a $50 per month pay hike and increased vacation benefits when they meet with City Council at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in City Hall.

Council is expected to make a counter-proposal, offering some increased benefits, but probably something less than those requested by the petitioners.

The police and firemen have said they will go on the November ballot if the pay hike they requested is not granted by Council.

Before Council makes its counter-proposal Tuesday, it will have some questions for the police and fire chiefs. The legislators want to know what effect on the police and fire departments a decrease in manpower would have.

Castro Limits Daily Airlift Flights to Two

Florida Governor Seeks U.S. Aid In Resettling Refugees

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—U. S. State Department plans to fly 20,000 Cuban refugees to Miami in three weeks were dampened with an edict by Fidel Castro's regime that only two flights a day would be permitted.

While ways were sought to keep the refugee flights moving as rapidly as possible, Florida Gov. Farris Bryant urged immediate federal assistance in resettling the refugees away from south Florida.

Two flights Sunday brought a total of 249 refugees. Pan American World Airways, which has been offering one flight daily from Havana, said it will operate twice daily until further notice.

An estimated 100,000 Cuban refugees are in the greater Miami area and the U. S. Cuban Emergency Refugee Center here has been processing 1,500 arrivals each week.

The State Department had proposed 10 flights daily to Havana to airlift the many Cubans who have waited months to leave the island. But the Cuban government over the weekend issued an order limiting flights between Miami and Havana to two a day.

A Pan American spokesman said passengers will be loaded on a reservation basis "since we have no other method of determining priority." The air line has bookings through January 1962 for persons wanting to leave the island.

Bryant, who said Florida's volunteer and public assistance programs for refugees "are strained to the breaking point," suggested a local-state-federal conference to work out the problem.

The governor endorsed the plan to airlift the 20,000 refugees, but pointed out the new group would not be equipped as well financially and from a language standpoint as those who had come over earlier on their own.

No flights were scheduled today or Wednesday.

Driver Hurt, Another Cited In Accidents

Lawrence Rummel, 33, of 45 1/2 E. Clark St., East Palestine, is in fairly good condition at Salem City Hospital with lacerations of the back and chest and injuries to his shoulder and right arm received in one of three accidents on area highways over the weekend.

Rummel was injured at 12:35 a.m. Sunday on Rt. 432, near East Palestine, when he lost control of his truck on a curve and ran off the road. The truck hit a utility pole and wound up in the ditch, the State Highway Patrol said.

Cars driven by Walter Belas, 44, of Aliquippa, Pa., and John Veletta, 61, of Carnegie, Pa., sideswiped at 6:35 p.m. Sunday on Rt. 172, about five miles west of Lisbon.

According to the Patrol, both cars were headed east when Belas attempted to make a left turn just as Veletta started to pass. Neither driver signaled, the Patrol said.

Dorothy M. Zimmerman, 38, of the Duck Creek Rd., Berlin Center, was cited for failure to yield the right of way, which the Patrol said caused an accident on Rt. 224, two miles east of Berlin Center at 1:05 p.m. Saturday.

The Patrol said she pulled off the Duck Creek Rd. onto Rt. 224 into the path of a car driven by Julius Paul, 62, of RD 1, Berlin Center. Paul, going east on Rt. 224, went off the right side of the road into the ditch to avoid striking the other car.

Hammarskjöld Is En Route to Scene For U.N.

Paris Denies Tunis Charge; Situation Remains Tense

TUNIS (AP) — The Tunisian government charged today that French troops were landing on the beach five miles west of Bizerte. It said that was in defiance of the U.N. cease-fire that halted the hard fighting in the city astride the approach to France's big naval and air base on the north Tunisian coast.

The Tunisian information minister said landing barges put French units ashore in the Cap Blanc area near the village of Nador.

Although the Tunisians did not say where the French landing units came from, the French government in Paris assumed that they were being accused of landing reinforcements from outside Tunisia and said the report was false.

A government spokesman said the Cap Blanc area lay within the French perimeter established during the Bizerte fighting and that there may have been some movement of men within the perimeter, giving rise to belief that reinforcements were landing.

The Tunisian government invoked new restrictive measures against France as officials awaited the arrival of U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

El Aouina airfield, Tunisia's only international airport, was closed to all Air France planes. Air liaison with France was maintained by the national airline Tunis Air, which has an average of two flights daily.

French citizens in Tunisia were ordered to get special authorization before leaving the country.

French assets in Tunisian banks were blocked. The banks already had been ordered to change no French money.

Tension remained high with French tanks and paratroopers standing watch through battle-scarred Bizerte and weary, watchful Tunisian forces holding out in the native Casbah.

The Tunisian News Agency reported a total of 670 dead had been counted in Bizerte and put the wounded at 1,500.

The Tunis press charged new "provocations" and violations of the truce by the French. Those reports said French planes had flown over the towns of Kas-

'Anna' Winds Lash British Honduras

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane winds lashed the British Honduras coast today and dangerous flash floods were forecast for a wide area.

Anna, the seasons first hurricane, was about 20 miles east of Mangrove Creek, British Honduras, at 5 a.m., a spot close to the Guatemala-British Honduras border. Its force was dwindling a little but the peril to Central America was far from ended.

"All interests around the Gulf of Honduras and especially along the Guatemala and nearby coastal areas should continue precautions against tides of 10 feet and hurricane force winds," the Weather Bureau said.

"Heavy rains will cause dangerous flash floods in this same area and through all of British Honduras."

At the latest report, Anna's winds had dropped from 90 to 85 miles an hour. Gales extended northward for 125 miles and southward for 50 miles.

As the storm moves inland, particularly as it reaches mountainous area, it will begin diminishing. Forecasters said Anna would play out over the Yucatan Peninsula.

Could Save Whole City Populations

Nationwide Shelter Systems Proposed In Civil Defense

EDITOR'S NOTE—As concern mounts over the Berlin crisis, new attention is focusing on civil defense preparedness. In this first of four articles, Sterling F. Green discusses major operating plans and ultimate goals for civil defense.

Civil Defense No. 1—Plans and status.

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON AP—The possibility that the defense of Berlin—or some other focal point of East-West tension—may bring nuclear disaster down on American homes, stores and factories has touched off a searching review of civil defense preparedness.

Already in motion, and shortly to be sent to Congress, is a massive step-up of civilian defense spending, planning and building.

It is aimed at providing a nationwide shelter system designed to save whole city populations from the fallout hazard. Proposed outlays in the neighborhood of $300 million this year would triple the spending now budgeted.

It already has brought a jarring shakeup in civil defense administration. President Kennedy last week transferred a major share of authority and responsibility to the Pentagon from the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, effective Aug. 1.

The ultimate goal is 46 million shelters, provisioned and equipped to sustain life for days or weeks in the event of an attack, while radioactive dust settles and loses its lethal taint.

In the Defense Department, President Kennedy's call for a review of military readiness has prompted consideration of declaring a limited national emergency, enlarging draft calls and employing more forces overseas.

The same White House order plans for home-front defense and mobilization. The two major operating plans are:

"Plan C"—For a limited war with U.S. forces in action overseas but an increasing threat of attack on the continental United States.

"Plan D-minus"—For use in event of a devastating direct attack on this country.

"Plan C" implies the minor government intervention exemplified in the Korean War-allocation of materials, stepped-up production, credit curbs, and the "voluntary" kind of manpower controls and price-wage stabilization.

"Plan D-minus" gives Americans the works. A price-wage freeze, rationing and censorship are provided for. It envisages a meratorium on private debts, emergency doles of money and food, the activation of emergency agencies to administer controls and a vast rescue, relief and refugee program.

What do the planners find when they canvass the nation's resources to cope with the crisis and carry out such plans? Not enough to make them happy. Official appraisals of civil defense readiness vary. Here are some privately expressed to this reporter:

"Our civil defense posture? Flat on our backs."

"We've got plans and a good framework, that's about it."

"We're far better prepared than we were at the outbreak of World War II or Korea."

Officials agree there is still widespread public apathy and some skepticism, though it is evident from OCDM's mail that these grow less with every war-like speech and rocket-rattling gesture from the Kremlin.

Says Frank B. Ellis, the Louisiana lawyer and former football tackle who now heads OCDM:

"We've got to get over the idea of mass suicide. I think we're having a revival of survival."

FBI Director Cites Crime Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—There were more serious crimes in the United States last year than in any year in history, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reported today. The surge of lawlessness reflected an astounding 98 per cent increase over 1950, he said.

By the FBI's crime clock there was a murder every 58 minutes. A forcible rape every 34 minutes.

An aggravated assault every 4 minutes.

A robbery every 6 minutes.

These chilling statistics shaped the pattern of violence in 1960 with a serious crime committed every 15 seconds or a total of 1,861,300.

Hoover noted in the big rise in crime over 1950 that the population increase for the decade was only 18 per cent.

The FBI data, published in the annual "Uniform Crime Reports," covered information supplied by more than 7,700 police agencies, and showed that 1960 topped 1959 by 14 per cent in murders, forcible rapes, robberies, aggravated assaults, burglaries, auto thefts and larcenies of $50 or more.

Crimes against property, Hoover said, were in general even more frequent, with a burglary every 39 seconds, a major larceny every minute, a car theft every two minutes.

By major categories, robberies and burglaries were each up 18 per cent over 1959, larcenies 14 per cent, auto thefts 9 per cent. Murders had a sharp 6 per cent rise. Aggravated assaults increased by 5 per cent and forcible rapes by 3 per cent.

There were 3,640 arrests for each 100,000 persons during the year with city arrests running at about three times the rural rate.

Theodore Roosevelt was the first U. S. president to take a trip on a submarine, August of 1905.

Gagarin Shares Billing With Castro

Soviet Spaceman In Spotlight At Cuban Revolt Anniversary

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba prepared a hero's welcome today for Soviet spaceman Yuri Gagarin to kick off the giant celebration of the eighth anniversary of Fidel Castro's revolution.

Havana airport was closed to all commercial traffic to clear the way for the 27-year-old cosmonaut flying here from Gander, Nfld., where he made an overnight stop on the trip from Moscow.

The youthful Soviet air force major is being given equal billing with Castro in the four-day celebration of the 26th of July Movement that sparked the revolution which ousted the Batista dictatorship Jan. 1, 1959.

The Soviet spaceman, who already has been exhibited in Britain, Finland and Communist bloc countries since his April 12 flight around the earth, sent word ahead that he was "very happy that my old and cherished dream is at last coming true—to visit the heroic Cuba."

He told the Cuban people: "I closely follow the great deeds of your revolution which have earned you the sympathy of millions. The name of your island is a symbol of freedom and heroism."

The Cuban celebrations will reach a climax with a giant Havana rally on Wednesday, the July 26 date on which Castro launched his revolutionary movement in 1953 with an abortive raid on a Santiago army barracks.

Thousands of peasants and workers from outlying provinces have poured into Havana to cheer their bearded prime minister and the boyish-looking cosmonaut he has invited to share honors with him.

At the rally Wednesday, Castro is expected to announce the establishment of a one-party political system in Cuba along lines in effect in Communist countries. He reportedly plans a proletarian party made up of the Popular Socialist (Communist) party, the 26th of July Movement, labor unions and other groups that supported the revolution.

Million-Mile Round Trip Journey

Proposed Moon Spacecraft To Be Flight Tested Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Ranger I spacecraft—first version of a vehicle that later this year may crash-land on the moon—will be launched on a million-mile round-trip journey into space within the next few days.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration described in detail today its newest and most complicated experiment in lunar and planetary exploration. But NASA declined to give the exact date the launch attempt will be made at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

NASA said the 675-pound Ranger will be fired first into a brief "parking orbit" 115 miles above the earth. For about 13 minutes Ranger I will zoom along at 18,000 miles an hour, high above the Atlantic Ocean, as though it were a regulation earth satellite.

Then its Agena-B second-stage rocket will fire up for a second time to accelerate Ranger I to a velocity of 23,800 miles an hour and start it on a trajectory 685,000 miles out into space.

It deliberately will not be aimed at the moon. The craft is expected to reach the perigee, or closest point to earth, of its eccentric orbit in September at an altitude of 37,500 miles—some 58 days after launching.

The spaceship may be unable to regain orbital course, however, and may plunge into the earth's atmosphere and be destroyed by fire.

NASA said there also is a slight possibility the craft may reach earth-escape velocity. In that event, it would join two U.S. probes—Pioneer IV and Pioneer V—and two Soviet probes in orbit around the sun.

Designed to test an enormously complicated spacecraft system, Ranger I has 19,520 working electronic parts.

It is a forerunner of vehicles that will rough-land instrumented packages on the moon. With further refinements, it eventually is expected to make soft landings there and on the planets. Later craft—of the Surveyor, Prospector and Voyager series—are being designed to achieve ultimately manned occupation of the moon.

For CHRISTMAS!

In Coquimbo, Chile, every boy in the worst slum sectors of town received a pair of blue jeans for Christmas! These were the first, clean, whole clothes many had ever had in their lives! This clothing was collected from American churchgoers and sent to Coquimbo. Lists of needy children were gathered from public, Protestant and Catholic schools and a Jewish refugee organized the outfitting job. By Christmas, 5,000 children were dressed in clean clothing!

This is one example of Americans supporting the Overseas Aid Programs of their faiths. While this case is Protestant—all three faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—maintain programs that provide not only clothing but jobs, tools, housing, schooling and food for those in need overseas! ## Wooden Fence Adds Charm To Otherwise Ordinary Home Few improvements as inexpensive as a wooden fence can add as much pure charm to what otherwise might be considered an ordinary house.

It doesn't change the house, any more than a frame changes a picture, but it adds a picturesque touch as well as an air of individuality. For the do-it-yourselfer, a wooden fence is a project which can be handled in stride, usually over a weekend.

All fences utilize two essential components—horizontal members, known as stringers or rails, and vertical members, known as posts, boards or pickets. White the picket fence is the most common type, others are basket-weave, stockade, board-on-board, zig-zag and similar patterns that take advantage not only of the wide variety of shapes but of the natural grain of wood for the creation of unusual effects.

The fancier fence materials cost a little more, because the lumber dealer must cut the components to order. The horizontals and verticals needed for picket fences and some types of board fences are usually carried in stock. They are available in standard lengths and widths, in four or five different patterns. Incidentally, when buying the lumber, get a supply of non-rusting nails and rent, borrow or purchase a posthole digger.

Before starting work, be sure to determine from local authorities whether a permit is needed and what regulations, if any, must be followed. And, of course, be 100 per cent certain you know where your property line is located.

The best way to lay out a fence is with stakes, made from one-by-one scrap lumber six inches long, and mason's twine or fish line. Use the posthole digger to make the holes for the vertical framing. As a rule, posts are located 5 to 10 feet apart, depending on the type of fencing, and the holes are dug to a depth of two or three feet. The posts should be heartwood of a naturally durable species or chemically treated wood. Well-tamped earth around the post usually provides a firm base, but where the soil is very soft or yielding, a concrete base may be needed. A simple and easy way to provide a firm base is to mix the packing soil with a small quantity of portland cement before tamping the hole. When the hole is almost filled, add a small amount of water.

The posts should be checked for "plumb" with a carpenter's level and temporarily braced until firmly set. Afterwards, finish filling the holes, packing down the loose soil firmly. Some persons prefer to paint or stain the fence after it is completed. We have found it easier to paint the posts and other components before the installation. Be sure to use a good quality exterior paint. If you apply at least three coats, you'll get a result that will last for years.

3 Predictions About Future In Housing

From a chemist, a builder and a realtor—each a recognized authority in his field—come three predictions about the future in housing.

The chemist, Henry DeVore, says that by the 1980's entire houses will be constructed of plastics. He calls attention to an experimental building put up by army engineers at Ft. Belvoir, Va. Constructed of plastic panels, molded and shaped from foam sprayed from a 55-gallon barrel, the building was reinforced by spraying it with polyester. "There will come a day," says DeVore, "when houses such as this will be poured from a barrel. Buyers will select a site and then order barrels of chemicals for on-the-spot molding into the panels that will be used in the basic structure of the house."

The builder's forecasts concern the immediate future, not the 1980's. To meet the swelling need for middle-income rental housing, a segment of the real estate industry is now focusing its sights on garden apartments fashioned from factory-built components, just as has been done with so many shell, vacation and one-family development homes. The builder, Joshua Benav, says that new automatic equipment soon will make it possible to produce an entire garden apartment building of six units in one hour's manufacturing time. Units already are being turned out and delivered to the site for completion in two days' time.

The third prediction, from George M. Clarkson, chairman of the National Association of Real Estate Boards' Committee on Real Estate Economics, relates to the future demands of home buyers. While Clarkson makes the forecast, he points out that it really is nothing more than the result of a survey conducted during the last six months. Sifting through all the details, the prediction is this: home buyers will be on the lookout for greater size in everything. They will want larger rooms, bigger plots, more built-ins and extra bathrooms.

Here's The Answer

QUESTION: We are planning to use dividers to partition off parts of our large living room and to create a foyer around the entrance. But most of the dividers we have seen are opaque, heavy-appearing and hard to move. So we have decided to make our own. Can you suggest some kind of material or assembly which we could use to build attractive, lightweight dividers?

ANSWERS: There are a number of materials that can be used for this purpose, but right now we'll suggest metal lath because we recently saw a good example of how effectively this particular material can be utilized. First of all, metal lath can be bought by the sheet from any building supply house or lumber yard. Usually a single sheet is large enough for the average separator, but this is something you can determine yourself after finding out how it is sold at your particular dealer. Ask for stucco-mesh metal lath, since the openings are about one and one-half inches by three, giving a sense of strength yet permitting a view through the divider. The lath may be framed in heavy wood molding for a nice decorative effect, using as the base a plant box. Vines may be grown from the plant box to the trellis provided by the lath itself. If mobility is desired, ball bearing casters can be screwed to the bottom of the plant box. The stucco-mesh metal lath usually is covered with a rust-inhibitive black paint, which goes well with many decorative schemes. If it is desired to lighten the color, use two coats of any good enamel.

Here Are Some Facts About Acoustical Ceiling Material

During 1960, sufficient fiber-board acoustical ceiling tile was purchased through the nation's lumber yards to sound-condition more than 1,200,000 average 12 by 15 rooms.

Judging by the number of inquiries we have received on the subject in recent months, the figure will be even higher this year. Let's look, therefore, at some facts about this material, so widely used by do-it-yourselfers in the construction and remodeling of extra living space in their homes.

Acoustical ceiling tile absorbs and thus eliminates up to 70 per cent of the noise that strikes it. Sound enters the openings in the tile and is smothered by the action of friction against the porous fibers. The openings may be drilled in uniform or random patterns and varied in size.

Ceiling tile comes with a factory-painted surface. Once all tiles were white or offwhite, but a wide variety of pastel and bold decorator colors is now available.

Fiberboard acoustical ceiling tile has sufficiently slow flame spread characteristics to meet the requirements of the National Building code sponsored by the National Board of Fire Underwriters for use in most areas of buildings of all occupancies. Where regulations call for increased flame resistance, special tile can be purchased.

When purchasing tile, it is important to read the manufacturer's instructions to determine how the tile can be cleaned. Some tile can be washed with soap should be removed by vacuuming, small smudges with an art gum eraser and stubborn marks with a rag dampened with denatured alcohol.

The most popular size ceiling tile is 12 inches by 12 inches and one-half-inch thick. However, if you want something a bit different, you can get it in any of several other sizes.

If you plan on installing fiber-board acoustical ceiling tile, be sure you decided ahead of time how it is to be installed. If a solid ceiling surface is available, then you probably will want the type of tile which is applied with a mastic. But if you are installing the tile over a badly damaged ceiling—or are making a new ceiling—then you want to use the tile which is stapled or otherwise attached to furring strips.

We'll All Need to Pitch In

President Kennedy and his advisers are taking a calculated risk in planning a nationwide address Tuesday night. It will need to be better than anything since the President's inaugural address last January to get favorable attention.

The American people are in no frame of mind to be preached to, exhorted, or appealed to again for personal sacrifice. They have been hearing since last year's presidential campaign that they need to strengthen their country and their world. The message is wearing threadbare.

When the tax deadline came last April 15 they marched manfully to the nearest mailbox and sent away what was left of their income. They are keeping their fingers crossed about the possibility tens of thousands of men with family responsibilities may be called up for military service. They are ready to do what must be done, but they need to be shown that their government is ready to do what needs to be done, too.

It specifically and urgently needs to command their confidence.

It needs to lay off its advocacy of ideas and programs that make it seem to be fooling with utopianism.

It needs to develop the sure touch, instead of fumbling its responsibilities like a bride panicked by the responsibility of cooking her first dinner.

THIS IS, after all, the national administration that crystallized out of a hard-fought political campaign last year in which Americans by the thinnest of majorities turned down the candidacy of one man who had understudied President Eisenhower for eight years, in favor of another who claimed the Eisenhower administration had ruined America's prestige abroad and its self-respect at home.

We expected great things, because great things had been promised. And we are disappointed so far because great things have not materialized.

It is possible they have not materialized because there has been too much to do that there hasn't been time.

It is possible we were not supposed to take the campaign seriously, but we did, because we knew that the outcome would be serious. And nothing could be more obvious than the disappointment of Americans in the outcome so far.

President Kennedy has talked and talked and talked. But he hasn't won the people's confidence in his ability to act — not that he necessarily lacks the ability but that he has not hit an executive stride.

WE HOPE he hits it Tuesday night. We hope he lays off the theme of popular sacrifice. We hope he does not make the error of telling the American people they must do this and so.

We — the American people — will do this and so, if that's what has to be done. But we cannot nip down to Washington to run the government. We cannot ditch the multi-billion-dollar spending proposals that are giving us the shakes. We cannot tell John Kennedy how to dispel the appearance of being snafued in a coil of wire while we wait and pray for him to act as our freely elected chief executive.

Sometimes lately when we hear the quip that he is demanding a recount of the November ballots, hoping Richard Nixon will win this time, we think it isn't funny any more.

If Mr. Kennedy cannot make the country stand up and take notice next Tuesday night, he's in as big trouble as some of the Washington pundits who never liked him in the first place say he's in. And we're in bigger trouble than that. We'll all pitch in — we'll all need to pitch in — but someone has to decide when and where.

If You Ever Want to See Junior Alive Again

Kennedy Program

Today's guest columnist for Victor Riesel is Charles R. Sligh Jr., executive vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers. In the following article he gives his recipe for prosperity.

By CHARLES R. SLIGH, Jr.

On Feb. 2, soon after taking office, Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg said in a speech before the National Press Club in Washington: "We are under no illusions in this administration. The secret of the restoration of our economy rests primarily with private industry in the United States."

He went on to say that the government intended to pursue policies, including "adjustment of tax statutes," which would "stimulate" business so that more jobs would be available.

Shortly thereafter, President Kennedy himself reaffirmed this general attitude in a speech to the National Industrial Conference Board.

He said: "Working together, business and government must do better — putting people back to work, using plants to capacity, and spurring savings and investment with at least a part of our economic gains — beginning not when our economy is back at the top, but beginning now."

THIS RECOGNITION at the dawn of the new administration that the nation must look to private business for jobs and progress was encouraging.

Businessmen waited eagerly to see how this concept would be reflected in legislative recommendations to Congress. They are still waiting.

Instead of supporting a program which business has advocated for several years to use "at least a part of our economic gains" to spur savings and investment by reforming the tax rates on personal and corporate incomes — which admittedly are too high for vigorous economic growth — the administration has used every device in its power to put through a long list of proposals which create still more roadblocks to business expansion.

Instead of proposing more liberal depreciation regulations which would permit rapid modernization of our industrial plant — a need which the President stressed in his speech — the administration sent up to Congress a complicated "investment credit" program which, in the opinion of most business witnesses before the House Ways and Means Committee hearings, would do more harm than good.

THIS IDEA was wrapped up in a package with other tax changes which would burden still further the process of savings and investment on which jobs depend.

More liberal depreciation and reform of the tax rates were put off until some future time on the ground that the Treasury cannot afford to lose any revenue.

Meanwhile, vast new spending programs which will cause heavy budget deficits were pushed through Congress on the ground that the country cannot afford to do without them.

This great concern with the budgetary situation where the admitted needs of business are involved, and total unconcern when it comes to new welfare spending programs, deprive the administration's previous encouraging statements of any meaning, and furthermore are extremely shortsighted.

THE NATION must depend on the growth and expansion of the private economy to reverse the balance of international payments, provide jobs for the unemployed and for the millions of new people who will want jobs in the next decade, and to produce the tax revenues which are needed to balance the budget.

Yet, the lowering of obstacles to economic growth is denied on cost grounds while non-defense spending is given a green light regardless of cost, now or for the future.

No wonder businessmen are confused and a bit discouraged at the present time. They know that, except for government payrolls, jobs in our economy are created when individuals are impelled, in the hope of making a profit, to save and invest their money in a business which provides employment.

They know it is the profit motive which gives our economy its dynamic quality and that there will be a minimum of unused capacity in either manpower or material resources when the possibility exists for employing it at a profit.

SEVERAL MEMBERS of Congress, recognizing that the present tax structure is a serious obstacle to saving and investment, and thus of job creation, have proposed that we should, "beginning now," apply "at least a part of our economic gains" to bringing tax rates down gradually to more moderate levels instead of spending the increased revenue from economic growth as fast or faster than it comes in.

This proposal has been presented in the form of the Herlong-Baker bills now before Congress. The primary objective of the Herlong-Baker proposal is to restore the economy to its former progressive vigor by lowering some of the present obstacles which prevent the undertaking of ventures with profit possibilities.

If the administration would recognize that we must produce before we can consume and work with the dynamics of our economic system instead of against them, the economy would soon begin to generate the wherewithal to meet all of our needs.

Aid For Latin America

By JOSEPH R. SLEVIN

'Marshall Plan' For Our Southern Neighbors

The Kennedy administration hopes and expects that a vast new Latin American "Marshall Plan" will get underway next month.

The moment of decision will come at a special meeting of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council in Montevideo, Uruguay, to begin Aug. 5.

The United States is prepared to spend billions of dollars to support a Latin American aid plan and it is suggesting to the Latin American countries that they adopt a Montevideo resolution committing themselves to a mutual effort to achieve faster economic development.

President Kennedy proposed the plan last March in an unprecedented White House speech to the Latin American diplomatic corps. He called for an alliance for progress.

The Montevideo pledge will be the most profound commitment that the U.S. has made to its Southern neighbors. Mr. Kennedy urged a 10-year effort in his March speech and officials say that they are unable to put a price tag on the program.

The "Marshall Plan" phrase frequently has been used to characterize foreign assistance programs in recent years but the analogy in this instance is designedly very precise.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall proposed the joint European recovery effort in a Harvard speech in June, 1947 and left it to the European nations to respond with effective programs that the U.S. could support.

So, too, has Mr. Kennedy declared this country's willingness to help the Latin Americans achieve a better future and has left it to them to come forward with the necessary workable proposals.

The hope is that the Montevideo session will reach agreement on development goals such as the rate at which income is to be increased, the education targets to be attained and the general fashion in which greater productivity is to be shared among the people of the participating countries.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, who will head the U.S. delegation at Montevideo will tell the Latin American countries that the United States is willing to supply more financial help than the $1 billion a year that it is providing at present. But he will make no firm, continuing dollar commitments.

Those who await the joint development of concrete programs that will take place after the alliance for progress has been formally organized.

Here To Stay

By TRUMAN TWILL

Last Saturday night, my long-time roommate said she was going to take me to a drive-in movie if it was the last thing she did. She had been to her first one a few nights before, to see a picture that had been highly recommended, and said she thought I'd like both the picture and the drive-in. I did.

Now I understand what has made the phenomenal boom in the drive-in movie business. It fits the times we live in.

This is the automobile age. A man's car is his castle. At the least, it is his home away from home.

The drive-in movie people and the drive-in everything else people have applied business logic to a sociological fact and made it possible for Mahomet to come to the mountain in his own conveyance.

Kids . . . they were packed in two out of three of the cars we saw going into the movie. Their parents having a night out, and the kids were in the back seat. The little ones would fall asleep. The squirmers could be dumped into the playground until they got tired. The older ones could watch the screen. The "warmup" part of the evening bill was intended for the junior audience. Kids get in free.

Privacy . . .

As long ago as when my long-time roommate and I were not roommates, we went to the movies to hold hands, because there is a time for this sort of thing but there never had been a place to go with the time before they built movie theaters. No doubt about it, there's a lot of er, uh, hand-holding at drive-in movies, and if the clock were to be turned back that's where I'd be heading on Saturday night.

Concessions . . .

Show business always has counted on concessions to meet the overhead. In New York theaters, they clip you for a souvenir program. They rent you a pair of toy binoculars to look at the actors. They peddle orange pop in tiny paper cups at large prices. At a circus, they sell the gillies cushions to ease the hardship of the seats. At ball games, they count on the beverages and the hot dogs to help with the overhead. At the drive-in theater, the food and drink must loom as large as the take at the gate. Kids are great consumers.

Convenience . . .

You wear what you please. You do what you please. You make yourself comfortable. Years ago when my friends the theater managers wanted to know what had turned me sour on coming to their theaters (I had been a movie reviewer at one time) I told them I objected to the collapse of discipline in their audiences. I did not like to go to movies that were spoiled by smart-aleck kids making wise cracks, by stream-of-consciousness talkers who yakked through the show and by unruly children.

I can still remember being booted on the nape of the neck by a kid wielding a wet sucker. Not that things like this always happened, but they happened oftener than was good for my composure. At the drive-in kids and other misbehavers aren't my concern.

You get the idea. I like my first drive-in movie. I never have believed anything happened to movies, only to audiences. I never believed anything about baseball changed, either, but only that something happened to people who once had nothing more exciting to do than go to a ballgame.

I predict that the drive-in movie is here to stay for a long time, like everything else that has grown up around the universal use of the automobile.

So They Say

We ought to know communism backward and forward. Our seminars especially should teach it. Communism is a religion. This is spiritual warfare.—Evangelist Billy Graham.

The real question is: To what world do we want our Bible to belong? Many of those who instinctively cling to the King James version would really rather prefer it did not come too close to life. They would like it to remain a thing of beauty, in a glass case, and they wince to see the glass case shattered. — Rt. Rev. J. A. T. Robinson, Bishop of Woolwich, one of the translators of "The New English Bible."

From the Files

10 YEARS AGO — Mrs. Fred Miller of N. Howard Ave. and Mrs. Mary Dailey of East Palestine have left for a month's stay in California.

25 YEARS AGO — Elizabeth, Robert and Francis Lozett of Fallington, Pa., spent the weekend with their grandfather, Dr. W. J. Blackburn of the Salem-Winona Rd.

Public Meetings

Although there was no attempt to withhold any information and, in fact, full reports of the meetings were made available to the press, two organizations which normally meet in places where the public can attend, recently held sessions away from "home base."

The Salem Board of Education held one of its recent meetings at a restaurant and the Columbiana County Board of Health met at the private home of one of its members.

Since the public's right to know what is going on is guaranteed by the Constitution, it doesn't look good, in these instances, where the boards did not convene at the normal meeting places at the duly constituted times.

The boards might find themselves in an embarrassing situation if the Ohio attorney general would rule that actions taken at the meetings were illegal.

Once Over

Washington wants to give Indian chance to enjoy full rights of American civilization but Indian leaders are wary of mere "termination of reservation restrictions" and want pledges of development.

Red Man can't see why U.S. should lend billions to nations all over earth and not help original American similarly, since they once owned the country.

Red Man deserves a break but picture of modern civiliaed man makes him skeptical of joining parade.

His early way of life doesn't look too bad. He lived simply, had no relaxation problems, faced no "commercials" and never had wig-wam surrounded by collectors of taxes on his tepee, pony, war paint and feathers.

He fought invaders fiercely and could be cruel but he probably would have recoiled at thought of atom bombs and other secret weapons that might make shambles of earth.

All he asked was to be let alone. He never thought and tribal government owed him a living, a regular supply of venison and federal aid in wild turkey hunts. He never dreamt of paying a tax on tobacco and pipe.

He had no share-the-clamshells program and if he died and left the squaw and papoose four ponies, a tent and a couple of blankets he never feared she would be taxed out of everything but one pony and half a blanket.

The Indian rarely defaced nature, vandalized his own tribal symbols, had juvenile delinquent problems or shot his pop and mom because they hadn't given him the right vitamins.

He had few diseases, kept no medicine cabinets, had no weight problems, too no reducing tablets and never heard of tranquilizers.

Is Newburgh a Political Issue

Even the people who started it are astonished at the explosion of the Newburgh issue.

They had no idea the problem of one small city in New York would get so much attention. They had no idea that the things which were puzzling them were puzzling people like them in other cities.

Public relief, instead of being a hand in need for the down and out, has been turned by some of its recipients into a cow that they milk systematically. When Newburgh adopted a new set of rules to discourage the milkers, other cities with the same problem took notice because they, too, wanted to discourage abuses of relief.

It was not seen at first that the Newburgh issue was going to be taken up by politicians. Perhaps it should have been seen, because the mayor of the city was a Democrat who had locked horns with the city manager and council over relief policy.

They wanted to tighten the rules. The mayor didn't. And in the criss-crossed politics of New York state, a Republican governor, Nelson A. Rockefeller, is siding with the mayor, while a Republican senator from Arizona, Barry Goldwater, is siding with the manager and the councilmen.

This is being interpreted as the evolution of a political issue that will be crackling and popping in the congressional election next year and the presidential election in 1964. Surely no one in Newburgh, N. Y., dreamed the city's relief problems would have an impact on national elections.

But this is the sort of thing politicians look for. They must take their political issues where they find them. One thing has been made certain by the interest stirred when Newburgh announced it was going to make sure no one was collecting relief payments as a way of life, in lieu of working. Americans are interested in the problem of relief. It is vastly more than how to help the helpless. It is also how to make sure relief doesn't help to create the helplessness it is supposed to help—that it isn't turned into a handout by politicians currying the favor of relief recipients.

Light is supposed to ruin dandelion wine and if that doesn't your friends will.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: "Just a Mother," who complained because her gorgeous, tall son was going with "a little peanut of a thing" sounds like my mother-in-law — 35 years ago. It almost killed her because her Adonis didn't pick a statuesque regal type — so people would turn their heads and say, "Aren't they a handsome couple?"

My mother-in-law lived to see her three grandchildren graduated from college — and it was their peanut mother, not their tall father, who put them through school. Even though I was "a 90-pound nothing" I was big enough to pull down a man's salary and I'm still doing it.

Maybe "Just a Mother" would be lucky if her son got even a peanut. — THE FYWEIGHT.

Quality Counts

Dear Ann: I hope the girl who is "5 feet Notthin'" will give that 6-foot dreamboat back to his mother. I'm a shrimp myself and I know what it's like to suffer the indignities of not only a thoughtless mother-in-law but a cruel father-in-law as well.

The first time I met my father-in-law he turned to my husband and said, "Is she standing in a hole, or what?"

We've been happily married for 14 years and have four fine children, but I'm still the butt of all the family jokes because of my size. This is interesting since my husband's three older brothers married tall (and stunning) women — seven of 'em to be exact. Not one of those marriages worked.

Maybe some day they'll get smart and stop looking for quantity and seek quality instead. — HAPPY RUNT.

Happy Little Mite

Dear Ann: I'm a gal 4 feet, 7 inches tall. As a child my mother hauled me from one doctor to another because I "wasn't growing." Finally one wise old doc told her to quit spending her money because my physical condition was excellent and height was not important.

Mother took his advice and from that day to this I've never let my size deter me from doing anything I wanted to do.

Cruel relatives hinted to my father that he'd better give me a good education because I'd always be a burden to him.

Well, Ann, I supported my father through 10 years of illness and I'm still supporting my mother. I enjoy life and have a lot of fun. The only thing I DON'T have is a mother-in-law looking down her nose at me. — DINA-MITE.

Envies Petite Dolls

Dear Ann: I'm a gal 24, just a shade over 6 feet tall. How I envy the petite little dolls! They can go with short guys, tall guys, anyone at all.

I've always been the tallest (and most awkward) girl in the crowd. Even in the third grade I towered over every girl — and most of the boys.

I pretended to laugh it off but I never got over feeling a stab of pain when the "normal" size kids called me "Bean Pole" and "Giraffe."

Most fellows are self-conscious when their date is taller, so the field is definitely limited for us Tree Toppers. The little girls don't know how lucky they are. I'd gladly give away 10 inches of my height to anyone who wants it. — SKYSCRAPER.

BORON

cleans your carburetor

while you drive

and keeps it clean!

Boron contains a special carburetor cleaner that is so effective it does two important jobs. It cleans dirty carburetors...and... keeps clean carburetors clean. With regular use of Boron, you can clean your carburetor while you drive and keep it clean!

THIS IS WHY CARBURETORS GET DIRTY!

The dirt in carburetors is caused by deposit-forming fumes from (1) the crankcase breather pipe of your own engine, from (2) the exhaust gases from other cars around you in traffic and from (3) the atmosphere itself. These deposit-forming fumes contain tiny particles of dirt that are microscopic in size.

THIS IS WHERE CARBURETORS GET DIRTY!

Too small to be trapped by your car's air cleaner, dirt particles pass into your carburetor where they stick to the carburetor wall and to each other. They build up a hard ledge of deposit around the throttle plate (see arrows). This condition restricts air flow at idling speeds causing stalling, rough idling, gasoline waste.

THIS IS A DIRTY CARBURETOR!

Boron with its special carburetor cleaner removes the deposits (see arrows). It dissolves them and washes them away. With heavy deposits, the process may take some time. But the end result will be a clean carburetor. And by always using Boron it will stay clean because Boron coats carburetor walls to keep new deposits from forming.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Her gown was a floor-length imported silk lace of rose design over taffeta with a scoop neckline edged with sequins and seed pearls and long sleeves and a detachable cathedral-length train, the edge of which was scalloped and trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. The fingertip length illusion net veil was attached to a crystal crown. She carried white gladioli with white ribbon streamers.

Miss Faith Hilker, maid of honor, wore an aqua silk organza gown with lace bodice and scalloped neckline, dome skirt and white accessories.

Bridesmaids, Miss Sandra Hoffman, sister of the bride, and Miss Virginia Thomas wore identical dresses in pink and blue silk organza with a V-neckline and full skirt and white accessories.

Miss Mary Herold, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid and she wore a full skirt yellow organza dress with white accessories.

All the attendants carried hand bouquets of carnations to match their individual dresses.

Paul Wiggers of Salem was the best man and ushers were Jack Bailey and David Herold of Salem.

The bride's mother wore a rose beige nylon lace sheath dress with green accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

The bridegroom's mother chose a medium blue lace over taffeta dress with matching bolero jacket and blue accessories.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake on a heart-shaped bed of ivy and milkglass holders with white candles and an ivy valance draped on the edge of the table.

Mrs. Russell Cameron and Mrs. Hazel Bowersock, aunts of the bride, Miss Deana Newhouse and Mrs. Myrtle Oesch, aunt of the bridegroom, served.

Miss Bonnie Syx registered 200 guests from Damascus, Salem, Alliance, Sebring, Somerset, and Princeton, N.J.

Mrs. Herold is a graduate of Alliance High School and is a secretary for Dr. Albert Wild of Alliance.

Airman Herold is a graduate of Salem High School and is with the Air Force.

For the honeymoon trip to Washington, D. C., the bride chose a pale blue brocade sheath with three-quarter length coat to match and white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Herold were hosts at the rehearsal party Friday evening at the bride's home.

Mrs. Herold will remain with her parents until airman Herold is stationed in England where she will join him.

Nancy Jane Davies Bride At Lisbon of R. J. Deemer

Distinctive in its simplicity was the ceremony Saturday evening at the First Presbyterian Church in Lisbon when Miss Nancy Jane Davies, daughter of Mrs. Frank B. Davies of 609 W. Washington St. and the late Mr. Davies, became the bride of Richard James Deemer, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Richard Deemer of the Lisbon-Columbiana Rd.

The Rev. Paul T. Gerrard, pastor, officiated at the double ring service in the presence of the immediate families. Bouquets of summer flowers graced the altar.

The bride chose a pale blue linen sheath dress with white accessories enhanced with a corsage of white rose buds.

Maid of honor and her only attendant was Miss Charlotte Childs. She wore a pink and white linen dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink rose buds complemented her attire.

Gregg Deemer served his brother as the best man.

Mrs. Davis chose for her daughter's wedding a blue silk print dress with deep blue accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a beige summer ensemble with beige accessories. Each had corsages of pink carnations.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Davies, for members of the wedding party and close friends.

The bride's table was laid in white linen and featured a floral arrangement of pink flowers and pink candles in crystal holders.

Mrs. Davies was assisted in serving by Miss Childs and Mrs. Carrie Flynn of Youngstown, aunt of the bride.

Mrs. Deemer graduated from Lisbon David Anderson High School in this year's class and her husband also attended Lisbon High School and is now serving in the U. S. Navy at San Diego, Calif.

After a short honeymoon in the mountains of Pennsylvania, the young couple will leave for California the first of the week where they will make their home.

Red Cross Plans For Its Annual Meeting In Fall

The official board of the North Columbiana County Red Cross Chapter held its quarterly meeting at the chapter office, with 22 in attendance.

Chairman William McKay named Louis Raymond chairman of the nominating committee to select eight new board members to be voted on at the annual meeting in October. Mrs. M. W. Riegel was appointed chairman for the annual meeting which will include a dinner and a guest speaker from the national headquarters.

Donald Handy of Barberton, volunteer program consultant for disaster services in northeastern Ohio, was guest speaker. A volunteer disaster worker since 1926, he defined the separation of the duties of the Civil Defense and the Red Cross.

He reported on the new way chapters are set up, which is according to the number of disasters in past years. Salem is Class D and includes a chairman and four key people.

In the event of a disaster, the first thing to do is for the Red Cross to determine the extent of the disaster, and then if it includes more than five families, the national Red Cross takes over. Nearby chapters who are in mutual aid disaster work are also notified, he said.

VFW At Ellsworth Plans Clothing Drive

Bug is the common name of all insects, but the only true bugs are insects of the order Hemiptera.

Horning-Bauman Vows At Sebring Church Are Heard

Miss Janet Ruth Horning and Paul Albert Bauman pledged their marriage vows Saturday afternoon before the altar of Faith United Presbyterian Church in Sebring.

A large arrangement of white majestic daisies and two candelabra decorated the altar for the double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Franklin MacAllister.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Persons of Westville Lake, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bauman Sr. of Damascus.

Miss Patricia Denny of Damascus was organist, and played "O Perfect Love," "O Promise Me" and "Ave Maria."

Charles W. Creger of Canton gave his granddaughter in marriage. Her street-length sheath of embroidered lawn was styled with a square neckline and cap sleeves. A Dior bow held her waist-length veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of white majestic daisies.

Mrs. John Shadley of Cleveland was the bride's only attendant. She appeared in a lilac street-length dress fashioned over princess lines. She wore a matching Dior bow, and carried a bouquet of pink daisies.

William Bauman Jr. was best man for his brother. The ushers were Lanny Brunner and Walter, Alvin and Richard Bauman, brothers.

others of the bridegroom. A pale blue brocade sheath with white accessories was worn by Mrs. Persons, while Mrs. Bauman chose a pink lace sheath with pink and white accessories. Both wore gardenia corsages.

The couple was greeted by 65 guests at the reception in the church social room. Bouquets of pink daisies were on either side of the three-tiered wedding cake.

Mrs. Robert P. McDonald, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Allen West served the guests from this vicinity and Canton, Dennison and Cleveland.

Mrs. Bauman attended Mount Union College and Kent State University, and is employed as a teacher in Sebring. Her husband is a graduate of Goshen High School and is parts manager at Cummins Diesel of Northern Ohio Inc. at North Lima.

For her wedding trip, the bride chose a navy ensemble with navy and white accessories. They will reside at 463 W. Texas Ave., Sebring.

Columbiana Schools Budget Up $29,819

COLUMBIANA — A budget of $456,000 for 1962, some $29,819 above the '61 budget, was adopted recently by the Columbiana Board of Education.

The increase reflects the anticipated costs of operation of the new South Side elementary school which is expected to be ready by next fall.

An increase of $2,900 is provided in operational funds for buildings, including four months' use of the new structure in 1962, and a $4,000.00 increase is provided in the fund for maintenance of school buildings, again anticipating the addition of the third school to the local system.

The payroll figure for 1962 is the largest jump in the budget. The increase for teachers and local staff is $14,700. This makes provision for two additional teachers in the local school staff to handle an increased enrollment.

Administration expenses, which covers the school superintendent, clerk of the school board, secretaries, and school enumerator, is expected to increase by $1450.

A total of $5,000 is provided for increased payments in the retirement program for teachers and other school employees.

THE COLUMBIANA Area Republican Men's Club will meet Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. in the High School cafeteria.

"The City Income Tax — Our Newest Menace" will be the subject for an open forum discussion. Speakers will be present representing business, industry, and labor. Leading citizens, county and district officials, and a tax expert will be present. The meeting is open to the public.

Richard Reash has been designated to serve on the Park Board as a representative of the Board of Education. He succeeds Dr. W. L. Lehman.

YOUNG ADULTS CLASS of Jerusalem Lutheran Church will hold its annual family basket picnic Tuesday at 6:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holloway. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barkley will serve as co-hosts.

Triple M Class of the Presbyterian Church has scheduled a swimming party Tuesday, at 7 p.m. at Copeland Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Forney and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burklo are in charge of arrangements.

PERRY KYSER, JR. is the king of the boys' 12-14 division of the junior tennis tournament conducted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

It was postponed July 4th at the park because Gary Troll, Kyser's opponent, was ill. The match was played recently with Kyser winning 6-3 and 8-6.

Perry received a championship trophy, and Troll a runner-up trophy, from Richard Berryman, playground director.

Mrs. Stepp of Royersford, Pa., visited her brother, Mr. Austin Bowman and wife.

Frank B. Everett of Columbiana and Rebecca L. Goddard of Salem were married Friday at the First Friends Church in Salem.

Judge To Rule Later On Ex-Chief's Appeal

LISBON — At a hearing this morning, Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard allowed the city of East Palestine to strike out certain phases of the dismissal appeal by former Chief of Police Richard Lotze of East Palestine.

The judge said he would reserve his decision until later on making definite and certain the exact charges in the removal and also in deleting the city of East Palestine from the case since it involves only Mayor Robert Harding of that city.

Judge Buzzard indicated he would make a ruling as soon as possible.

Sales Tax Revenue Decline Anticipated

Columbiana County is one of 44 counties in Ohio which will get less sales tax money for their local governments during the next year than they have been receiving, according to State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

The new allocation of sales tax money for Columbiana County is $14,837.19 monthly, down $1,147.93 per month from the $15,985.12 received this year for the local government fund.

Mahoning County's allocation will be cut from $63,614.31 per month to $63,005.66.

One reason for the cutbacks in funds to half of the state's 88 counties is that 1960 census figures have been used for the first time in calculating the amount due each county on the basis of its latest population. Another reason is that the legislature did not change the amount of sales tax money going into the local government fund. A third reason is that some counties are growing faster than others and their municipal tax duplicate is up.

Reds Call Spy Satellite 'An Act Of Aggression'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet army newspaper Red Star has denounced the launching of U.S. "spy in the sky" satellites as an act of aggression and compared them to the flights of U2 planes over Russia.

"It doesn't matter at what altitude the spies are flying, they remain spies and the flight of a sputnik over foreign territory is an act of aggression," said Red Star.

This was the first such blast at the Midas, Tiro and Samos orbiting programs of the United States in the Soviet press.

Red Star said after the "shameful failure of the program of air espionage, the United States is trying to use cosmo." The paper said it was no secret the United States sought to use satellites to gather intelligence about Soviet rocket bases and installations and Soviet weather.

'COOKOUT' IS PLANNED LISBON — How to build and use charcoal pits will be demonstrated when the Center Township Home Demonstration Group meets for a family cookout Saturday at 6 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Lewton or Mrs. Audrey Wetzel.

Two Persons Hurt In Rear-End Crash

Rain-slick streets were contributing factors in two rear-end collisions in the city Sunday, one of which brought minor injuries to two Hammond, Ind., residents.

Frank McGarvey, 82, and Louise McGarvey, 59, both suffered minor neck injuries when the car in which they were passengers was struck from the rear at 1:10 p.m. on N. Lincoln Ave. near E. State St.

They were riding in a car operated by John E. Rettinger, 57, of Hammond, Ind., which had stopped for a red light when it was struck from the rear by an auto which police said was driven by John L. Harr, Jr., 33, of Youngstown.

A boat and motor being towed by a car driven by Steven R. McClain, 20, of Canal Fulton, were damaged when struck from the rear by a car at 12:41 p.m. on S. Lincoln near Franklin.

Police said Harry K. Thomas, 72, of the Damascus Rd. skidded into the rear of McClain's boat and trailer which had stopped for the light. In addition to the boat, both cars were also damaged.

serine in the north and El Kef, near the Algerian frontier.

Hammarskjold headed for Tunis in response to an appeal from Bourguiba for a personal conference on the crisis. Hammarskjold who left New York by plane Sunday night shortly after he received the appeal, was to stop off in Zurich to pick up Pier Spinnelli, director of the U.N. European office.

Negotiations for a permanent cease-fire were held up by an argument involving a question of face. Adm. Amman talked by telephone with Tunisian Deputy Gov. Hedi Mokaddem, but they immediately disagreed over a site for their negotiations.

Mokaddem insisted that Amman come to his offices, while Amman suggested they be held in a neutral civilian building. The Tunisians turned this down.

Bourguiba, addressing mourners at funeral services for victims of the fighting, said diplomatic negotiations were under way outside the United Nations. He hinted he expected the United States and Britain to help Tunisia in the crisis.

That was the best thing I did all day."

While the rescue helicopter was headed toward him, Grissom said, "I decided to go ahead and get a little head start on him. I took off the cover on the detonator that blows the explosive hatch and tossed it at my feet. Then pulled the safety pin that holds the detonator out. You have to pull it before you can fire it."

Grissom said he was lying on his couch just waiting for word to blow the hatch, when the bolts exploded prematurely. "The only two moves I remember making were tossing my helmet off and grabbing the instrument panel. I went into the water."

The astronaut said he saw that the helicopter had not hooked on to the capsule and he swam over to help attach the recovery line. The rotor wash blew him away. Meanwhile, three Marine helicopters jockeyed overhead to reach both Grissom and the capsule.

Grissom said a second helicopter put down a lift sling to pick him up. "I tried to get over to him but I was having difficulty getting through his rotor wash and also I had neglected to close a port down on my suit, where the inlet hose comes in, and was getting water in my suit. I was getting lower and lower all the time and it was quite hard to stay afloat."

Cleveland Blanked 10-0 by Minnesota's Pedro Ramos

Barry Latman Loses First Tilt; Twins' Homers Help Sink Tribe

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Cleveland pitchers have hurled only four complete games this month, and Barry Latman has three of them.

But the hitters finally caught up with the ace right-hander Sunday as the Minnesota Twins shut out the Indians, 10-0.

The loss was the first for Latman this season, after nine victories, and only his second defeat since Jimmy Dykes became manager of the Indians last August.

Latman Lasts Four Innings

Latman, who lasted only four innings, was in trouble from the start. He gave up a double to Lenny Green, the leadoff batter in the first inning, and, after the next two batters had been retired, Bob Allison hit his 20th homer of the season. Latman also gave up a homer to Ted Lepcio and a run-scoring single to Allison before departing.

Bobby Locke surrendered the other six runs in the 2-3 innings he worked, with Joe Schaffernoth blanking the Twins on one hit in the last 1-1-3 innings.

Allison's homer was all Pedro Ramos needed as the Minnesota right-hander spaced six hits in winning his seventh game against 11 defeats.

Ramos gave up singles to Ken Aspromonte and Tito Francona in the first inning, but a double play between the two hits kept him out of trouble.

Woodie Held and Aspromonte singled with one out in the third, but Jim Piersall struck and Francona flied deep to right field to end the threat.

Lepcio hit his homer in the fourth inning with the bases bare. Locke was on the mound in the fifth when Harmon Killebrew slammed his 30th homer of the season after Green had walked.

Locke Hits Twins Catcher

Locke hit Early Battey on the left cheek with a 2-2 pitch in the seventh inning and the Minnesota catcher was carried from the field on a stretcher. He was taken to

Two No-Hitters Hurlled In Weekend Tilts; CIO 2463 In 'E' Finals

Five of the 12 Salem entries in the District Hot Stove Tournament being played here remain after three days of activity with the Class E Deming CIO 2463 aggregation the only one assured a berth in a district championship game as of now.

Other Salem teams still in the running for a trip to the state tourney in Alliance include National Cleaners, Firemen and Italian Club in Class G and Aldom's Diner in Class D. The Firemen and National Cleaners have played one game while the other two are not due to see action until this weekend.

Only the Class H district championships has been determined while the other titles are to be decided this weekend. Of the three Salem crews entered in Class H play, Ailes Insurance worked its way into the finals but was upended Sunday by Sebring Dutchons Dairy Isle, 8-5 after winning two straight in tourney competition.

5 Salem Teams Left In Hot Stove Tourney; Ailes Loses State Berth

surance only four scratch singles in the Class H district finals. Goshen Center defeated Alliance Structural, 6-4 to gain the second Class H state tourney berth.

AILES TOOK A 1-0 lead in the first game and jumped into the lead 3-2 in the third inning for the last time. Sebring poured four runs across in the last of the third on three hits to take a commanding 4-0 margin. The winners led the contest with two runs in the fourth.

Larry Hrvatin socked two of the four Ailes singles. Bill Odorizzi and Jim Marks collected the other two.

CIO 2463 was led into the Class E finals by Bissell with a triple and two singles in its win over Columbiana VFW Sunday. Dick Owens rapped out two singles to aid the CIO 2463 cause.

Other games in which Salem teams competed Sunday saw the Alliance Merchants blank the VFW, 5-0, behind the two-hit pitching of Crider, in Class E, and Sebring Pinecrest nip the Elks, 10-9 in extra innings.

Jim Garrett and Rich Sweitzer collected the only hits off of Crider for the Salem VFW as the Alliance hurler had complete control of the game, fanning nine and walking three.

Homers by Ron Parlonterieri and Jack Rea helped produce six runs in the second frame for the Elks but consistent scoring by the Sebring nine defeated the locals. The big blow in the game came when Bill Whitacre lined out a single in the eighth inning to break a 9-9 tie.

PACING THE ELKS attack were Rea and Rick Hippely with two safeties apiece. Losing pitcher John Paul Tolson aided his losing cause with a triple in the big six-run second inning.

Results of Saturday tilts involving Salem teams are as follows: CLASS E - Deming CIO 2463 over John Liber Meats of Alliance, 12-1; Salem VFW tripped Leetonia CIO 4022, 4-3; CLASS F - Elks dumped Rhurk Drugs of Killebrew

Red Dotson Hurls One-Hitter; Amvets, Italian Club Split

Lincoln Blanks Mile Branch In 'A': Old Dutch Edges IM 5-4 In 'AA'

Class A league-leader Lincoln Machine bounced back after having its 13-game winning streak stopped last week to blank second place Mile Branch, 2-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Bill Panzotti in one of seven softball games played at Kelley Park over the weekend.

In other games Old Dutch, Class AA leader, edged Industrial Mining, 5-4 in extra innings while Class A games saw the Alliance Amvets down the Spartans, 6-4 and lose a 2-0 tilt to the Italian Club; Mile Branch trip the Italian Club 5-1; Sheely Furniture upend Old Dutch, 9-5, and Theron's IGA shut out Bliss, 9-0 on Red Dotson's neat one-hitter.

Rain caused postponement of two Class A games and two Class AA tilts Sunday.

Lincoln Machine pounded out 10 safeties in its victory over Mile Branch. Stefane, Shaffer, Bill Pauline and Joe Carmelo rapped out two hits each, all singles.

D. Ramsey lashed out both singles against Panzotti for the losers. Panzotti fanned seven and walked five Mile Branch batters. Industrial Mining collected 12 hits off Bill Herman while Bill Davis limited the winning Old Dutch nine to four. However, 10

Hall of Fame Adds Carey, Bill Hamilton

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Baseball reached into the past to honor two of its former stars today when Max Carey and the late Billy Hamilton were inducted formally into the Hall of Fame.

Bronze plaques of Carey and Hamilton were to be unveiled in front of the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum in this historic community of 2,500, swollen to 10,000 for the occasion.

Carey, 71, was able to accept the honors personally. Hamilton, who died in 1940, was to be represented by members of his family.

After the nostalgic anecdotes of the morning ceremonies, the baseball crowd moved up the street a few hundred yards to Doubleday Field where the Los Angeles Dodgers and Baltimore Orioles were to play for the Hall of Fame Cup.

In an era of booming home runs that threaten to break Babe Ruth's old record of 1927, two oldtimers were being honored for their base stealing skills. Incredible as it may seem in the present day, Hamilton once stole 115 bases for Philadelphia in the National League in 1891 and wound up his career with 937 stolen bases, counting two years with Kansas City in the American Association which then considered itself a major league.

Carey, called "Scoop" for his ability to come in fast on short fly balls, led the National in stolen bases for 10 years. In 1922 he was thrown out only twice in 53 attempts.

Betsy Rawls Cops Tourney By 1 Stroke

ROCKTON, ILL. (AP) — Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., won her second straight Cosmopolitan Women's Golf championship Sunday but needed a birdie three on the final hole to edge out Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif.

Miss Romack finished the 54-hole tournament with rounds of 72-72-71 and a total of 214. Miss Rawls had 210 going into the final hole. She placed her second shot four feet from the pin and dropped the putt to win first prize of $1,200 in the $7,500 tournament with a total of 213 and a final round 72, matching the Macktown Course par of 37-35. Her rounds were 73-68-72.

Four others finished in a tie for third with 215 totals. They were Shirley Englehorn, Spokane, 71-72-71; Marlene Bauer Hagge, Pittsburgh, 74-72-69; Mickey Wright, San Diego, 73-70-72; and Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga., 69-72-74.

Miss Hagge tied the LPGA record for nine holes when she fired a 30 on the final nine, matching her own mark set in 1954 in the New Orleans Open.

Olympia Fields Course Difficult Picking Winner In PGA Tourney Tough

By JOE MOOSHIL Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Picking a winner in the Professional Golfers Association championship which opens Thursday is precarious.

An easier prediction is that the Olympia Fields North Course record of 31-34-65 by Lawson Little in the qualifying round of the 1940 USGA Open will stand.

The 6,722-yard course which calls 35-35-70 par is considered tougher. Fairways are narrower, traps and hazards have been added and if weather conditions aren't perfect, it is highly possible that par could win the 43rd annual championship.

Hebert, Palmer Played Course

Jay Hebert, the defending PGA champion, and Arnold Palmer, fresh from his British Open conquest, played the course last June to climax National Golf Week.

Palmer fired a 69 to defeat Hebert by four strokes but the course has been toughened since. Palmer predicted then a 277 to 280 would win the PGA. Hebert said he would settle for 280 in the 72-hole tournament.

A field of 169 will open the tournament Thursday. After 36 holes, the top 60 and ties will aim for the championship which should be settled Sunday providing there are no playoffs.

Purse Over $50,000

There is a guaranteed purse of $30,000 but this figure probably will go over $50,000 after admissions with the winner taking a prize of about $10,000.

Its a tough layout at Olympia Fields which demands accuracy with long irons.

SPOONER GETS HOLE-IN-ONE

Dale Spooner recorded a hole-in-one on the 142-yard, No. 7 hole at Robbys Knoll Golf Course with a No. 8 iron Saturday. Spooner was playing with Roger Slosser.

Cincy Stops Losing Ways, Leads by 1½ Games

Reds Sweep Twin Bill; Pirates Fall 11-4, 5-4

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds broke out of a six-game losing streak Sunday by thumping the San Francisco Giants, 6-5 and 11-2.

There apparently is no in-between pattern for Freddie Hutchinson's league-leading club. Either they win in batches or they lose the same way.

Reds Lead By 1½ Games

The twin triumphs, engineered by 13 extra base hits including five homers, boosted the Reds' lead to 1½ games over the pressing Los Angeles Dodgers. The Dodgers, sparked by Ron Fairly's two doubles, edged the Cards at St. Louis 2-1.

The Milwaukee Braves, sizzling in the heat, whipped the Pirates at Pittsburgh twice, 11-4 and 5-4, for a tour-game sweep of the series. This moved the surging Braves past the Pirates into fourth place, only a half game behind the third-place Giants. The Chicago Cubs snapped a seven-game losing streak by belting four homers, including two by Don Zimmer, for an 11-5 wallop of the Phillies at Philadelphia.

Reds Meet Braves Tonight

Hutchinson will get an idea of how long this streak is headed when his club takes on the Braves at Milwaukee in the only league game tonight. Joey Jay (13-5) faces Milwaukee's Bobby Hendley (3-2). The Dodgers play the Baltimore Orioles in the Hall of Fame game at Cooperstown, N.Y. Jerry Lynch's second homer of the game in the ninth earned the 6-5 opener for Bob Purkey (12-5) and pinned the defeat on reliever Sam Jones (7-6). The Reds also got homers from Frank Robinson and Leo Cardenas. Ed Bailey, a former Red, delivered two homers and Orlando Cepeda one for the Giants.

Robinson's second homer of the day—his 28th of the season—and 14 other assorted blows made it a breeze for Jim O'Toole (9-8) in the windup. Robinson's two-run homer in the first inning extended his consecutive hitting streak to 18 games.

Fairly's double in the first inning led to the Dodger's first run against the Cards. His second two-bagger in the sixth drove in Maury Wills with the winner. Nine Pirate Pitchers Pounded

The Braves pounded nine Pirate pitchers for 25 hits in taking two for nine of their last ten. Zimmerman's two homers (7 and 8) for four runs, Ed Bouchee's ninth and George Altman's 19th were the big blows for Chicago. Don Demeter hit a triple and two-run homer for Chicago. Jim Brewer gave way after Demeter's homer in the fifth and Don Elston (6-4) went the rest of the distance for the victory.

Kelso Seeks 2nd 'Horse of Year' Crown

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kelso took a giant stride toward his second straight horse of the year title with a brilliant Brooklyn Handicap victory, and he may come back in Saturday's Man O'War on the Aqueduct grass course.

Next Saturday will be one of the richest days in the history of thoroughbred racing, with four stakes that will offer a total of more than $550,000.

At Chicago, the 2-year-old colts will contest the $100,000-added Arlington Futurity, a 6-furlong spin that will gross around $215,000.

Delaware Park climaxes the distaff Big Three series for fillies and mares with the $110,000-added Delaware Handicap. This 1¼-mile event usually grosses $150,000.

Two-year-old fillies meet in the $100,000 guaranteed Sorority Stakes at Monmouth Park, at 6 furlongs. The gross will be around $115,000.

Aqueduct's Man O'War is an invitational affair, with $100,000 on the line at the end of 1½ miles. Louis Wolfson's French-bred Wolfgram, perhaps the best grass performer seen in this country in many moons, is sure to go with 132 pounds.

Kelso, Mrs. Richard C. Du Ponts great gelding who won the 1¼-mile Brooklyn with 136 pounds, would have to pack 135 in the race or trained on grass. In the $112,800 Brooklyn, Kelso came from third place in a field of 10, took the lead in the late stretch and beat Llangollen Farm's Divine Comedy by 1¼ lengths and paid $3. Calumet's Yorky was third.

The victory gave Kelso a place alongside Whisk Broome II and Tom Fool, stars of other years. The three horses are the only winners of the big handicap triple in one season, the Metropolitan, Suburban and Brooklyn.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Symptoms of Lead Poisoning

Until I read a recent report issued by the subcommittee on Accidental Poisoning of the American Academy of Pediatrics, I thought that lead poisoning (plumbism) in children was a danger that no longer existed to any extent. With the elimination of lead from indoor paints used on cribs, toys and the like, it appeared that a serious threat to our youngsters' health had been removed.

However, the subcommittee now draws attention to chronic plumbism that results from the child chipping off and swallowing flakes of outdoor paint now and then. Since lead is slowly absorbed from the intestines and even more slowly excreted, evidences of chronic plumbism may not appear for several months. Then, if they are not recognized and if steps are not taken to prevent further ingestion of flakes of exterior paint, the child's health and life are placed in serious jeopardy.

HOW DO YOU RECOGNIZE the principal symptoms of chronic plumbism in your child? You will note that they may easily be confused with those of poliomyelitis, particularly if they occur at the time of an epidemic.

Loss of appetite. Tendency to become less alert and playful.

Progressive irritability and clumsiness.

Awkwardness at play and in handling eating and drinking utensils.

Otherwise unexplained attacks of nausea and-or vomiting. And, in prolonged serious poisonings, convulsions.

Once suspected by the alert mother, lead poisoning is readily detected by the examining physician and soon confirmed by laboratory tests.

Of course, the most important way to keep your child from poisoning is to keep him away from the source. Most victims are between the ages of one and three.

So it is up to parents and older children to protect the little ones from this dangerous appetite for lead-bearing paint flakes.

Happily, there is a rich promise of successful treatment if the child's plumbism is caught at an early stage and not continued.

character of the avian world, the starling.

"Heaven forgive me for maligning one of God's little feathered creatures, even when he always looks as though he had just been kicked off a slow freight, and sometimes tries to kid people into thinking he is a mockingbird."

"We have a sizeable planter across the front of our garage roof. A family of these wacky characters nest somewhere about the house next door—in the attic, I suspect."

"In the a.m., during winter and early spring they sit on the edge of their roof and cuss me out when I go off to work (we talk to each other)."

"I cuss them because last year they started by picking up the spent blooms of our petunias, which I nip off, then took to lifting about 6 or 8 sizeable snapdragon plants and several marigolds. I assume they like a fragrant nest."

"Perhaps you might try shaking some moth flakes on the plants late at night. I don't know whether that would deter them—they are such nutty birds they might also carry off the flakes."

"Hope this lets you feel a bit better."

Well, Elmer, it sure does. It also makes me glad I didn't plant any snapdragons.

I don't know about those moth flakes though. I shudder to think what my razzing neighbors would say if my garden began to smell like mothballs.

Also, it makes me think of another friend here at the office who had troubles with rabbits chewing up marigolds and petunias around his summer home.

He got some kind of rabbit-bane powder and sprinkled it on the plants. It smelled so bad it kept the rabbits away, all right.

It also just about forced my friend and his family to abandon the premises.

Feathered Friends

By FRANCIS STILLEY
For Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Everybody laughed at me a while back when I wrote of some pesky birds yanking marigold plants out of my garden and zooming off with them. Now, heh, heh, I have the last ha, ha.

My veracity—and my sanity—has been upheld by some nice folks who kindly wrote from various parts of the country. A marigold man himself, couldn't resist twitting me.

"A likely story," he commented in a note. "It's a case of cutworms."

Cutworms, my eye. Just listen to this, from Mrs. A. W. Thornton of 105 Maple St., East Longmeadow, Mass.:

"I believe you because we've had the same thing happen here. The bird is a starling.

"Also, when we have zinnias a small yellow bird has pulled off the petals and dropped them on the ground. We could not understand why—unless it is to get at the seeds."

"Anyway, it is very discouraging to plant flowers and have them destroyed. But we don't know what can be done about it."

"Hope such a thing doesn't continue."

Thank you very much, Mrs. Thornton—but I must say I'm beginning to worry about my zinnias now.

Now here is another communication, from Elmer F. Korilla of 239 Terrace Ave., Hasbrouck Heights, N.J.:

"I read your piece about the vanishing marigolds. You are not goofy or batty, for I had it happen to me."

"The marigold-snatcher is that reprobate, flop-house and skid-row

Rain Ends 'Wade-In' Attempts In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A light rain ended a brief "wade-in" demonstration in a nearly empty South Side beach traditionally used only by white bathers.

About 30 Negroes and white persons took part in the demonstration Sunday under the watchful eye of a 200-man police force assigned to the public beach. The demonstrators left after about 45 minutes when rain started to fall.

Previous demonstrations have been marked by shouting, jeering and sand kicking incidents.
